APPENDIX B

ANNUAL RECORDS ACCRETIONS

It is estimated that records created and accumulated by the Agency would amount to an annual accretion of 20,000 cu. ft. This appears to be a reasonable figure in view of the following:

1. Personnel in the National Archives and Records Service stated that an estimated 12 cu. ft. of records are accumulated for each person employed by an Agency. The experience of the National Records Management Council in industry, indicates that this figure is approximately 2 cu. ft.

i.

 Purchases of filing equipment in 1950 with a capacity of 12,200 cu. ft.; 1951, 18,300 cu. ft.; 1952, 23,300 cu. ft.
